The great-nephew of the 1st African American U.S. Secret Service Agent, Charles L. Gittens, and grandson of Boston, MA's Co-Founder of the Puerto Rican Festival and Hispanic Civil Rights Leader, Jorge Chico Muñoz, C-Los is no stranger to leadership and innovative thinking. Born and raised in Boston, MA, C-Los began a very early career in the entertainment industry, getting his first big break as an actor, singer, dancer, and choreographer in the renowned Boston Youth Theatre (BYT) directed by Elaine Koury. After two successful years with BYT, C-Los landed a lead role in a television special called "Don't Give Up" ABC- Boston. Loving the excitement of live performance & singing, he decided to shift his focus to music entertainment where he soon signed a recording contract and began touring and appearing on TV (Soul Train and BET) and performance stages across the country in front of millions with his Billboard charting Polygram R&B recording group, Finest Hour. He & his group were 1st managed by the late Dick Scott & later managed by Pattie Labelle & Armstead Edwards. Next on the horizon, C-Los became a member of Marky Mark's "Funky Bunch" and worked alongside Mark Wahlberg. In the late 90s, C-Los relocated to Atlanta, working with Marvelous Development Center and Devyne Stephen's Upfront Megatainment. During his 30 years in entertainment, C-Los has been an Entertainment Consultant, Road Manager, Choreographer, Artist Developer, Show Developer, Actor, Singer, Dancer, Rapper, Director and working on projects with Sean "P-Diddy" Combs, Dallas Austin, Robert Townsend, Michael Jonsun, Johnny Wright, Maurice Starr, NKOTB, Lil John, TLC, Akon, Monica, OutKast, Jazze Pha, Goodie Mob, Raven-Symoné, Ludacris and Pink. From an Artist Development standpoint, C-Los has placed his personal stamp of style on the careers of such artists as Sammie Bush, Lloyd Polite, Debra Killings, and Keri Hilson. With a wealth of entertainment experience and know-how, C-Los has launched his own company, Zonum Media Group, currently producing its latest television project, "Family Approved". C-Los is taking variety television to a whole new level. C-Los is in the building!
